

The First Sunday of Advent

1. What does the Genesis account of God's creation of man tell us about the reasons that God created us?
2. Why do you think humanity in general, rejects fellowship with God?
3. Why did Satan put into the heart of Adam and Eve the idea that God was not being fair?
4. In order to restore our relationship with God, what does God ask us to do?
5. Reflect on Calvin's statement in regards the coming of Christ,

“For if we find in Christ nothing but flesh and nature of man, our glorifying will be foolish and vain, and our hope will rest on an uncertain and secure foundation; but if he shows himself to be to us God and the mighty God, we may now rely on him with safety. With good reason does he call him strong or might, because our contest is with the devil, death, and sin, enemies too powerful and strong, by whom we would be immediately vanquished if the strength of Chris had not rendered us invincible.”

What are some “take-ways” for our lives today?

6. Merry Christmas! I appreciate your group and your desire to grow in the Lord!
